

Game Performance User Study

If you participate in the user study, you will be asked to play about one hour of Counter-Strike: Global Offensive (CSGO) on a PC in an on-campus computer lab. All the devices will be thoroughly sanitized and social distance will be conducted. Upon completion of the study, you will get a $10 Amazon gift card. If needed, you can also receive IMGD play testing credit.

This survey is voluntary. It should take no more than 5 minutes to complete.

All personal information will be confidential. Your email address is collected only in the purpose of contacting you. It will be deleted from our records within 60 days upon the completion of the user study.

The lead researcher of this user study is professor Mark Claypool (claypool@cs.wpi.edu).

For any question regarding this user study, feel free to contact Shengmei Liu at sliu7@wpi.edu.
